Foreign key constraints are irrelevant as far as my article is concerned.

You appear to be telling me how YOU would implement your own tree structure, so my answer is "go ahead, I'm not stopping you". But what has that got to do with the RADICORE framework?