
Subject: Re: Cant create relationships

Posted by AJM on Thu, 16 May 2013 12:33:26 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I can see two things missing in that screen:

- 1) A red asterisk in front of the 'Table Id (jnr)' label to signify that the field is required.
- 2) A popup button in the 'Table Id (jnr)' value area to signify that a value is chosen from a popup screen.

This works perfectly on all my installations. The only way that those two items can be missing on the screen is if the details in the dict_retaionship.dict.inc file are wrong. You should see the following values:

```
$fieldspec['table_id_jnr']      = array('type' => 'string',
                                             'size' => 64,
                                             'pkey' => 'y',
                                             'required' => 'y',
                                             'lowercase' => 'y',
                                             'control' => 'popup',
                                             'task_id' => 'dict_table(popup1)',
                                             'foreign_field' => 'table_id_jnr',
                                             'noedit' => 'y');
```

Can you check your copy of the file to see if it correct?
