Have you followed all the installation instructions? Have you turned on error reporting? Is anything showing up in your phperror.log file? Is anything showing up in your errorlog.html file? Can you step through with your debugger to see where it is failing?

thanks for your time
i had followed the instruction manual, no any error is showing , it just showing the blank page

RADICORE demonstration system
View Error Log Delete Error Log Home page <- Click here for my home page
Logon <- Click here for the logon screen
Logon (csxslt) <- Click here for the logon screen (with client-side XSL transformations)

when im clicking on the logon link , its just showing the blank page , at that time the browser has the address as <http://localhost/radicore/menu/logon.php?csxslt=off>

I cannot tell what is going wrong from the information you have provided. If there is an error such as a "require" statement failing due to an incorrect include_path then it should be displayed on the screen. Have you got "display_errors = On", "log_errors = On" and "error_reporting = E_ALL" set in your php.ini file?

Have you run phpinfo() to see what your include_path is set to? Is it correct?

Unless you can provide some sort of error message I cannot tell what is going wrong. Can you step through with your debugger? (you do have a debugger, don't you?)

I have changed each and every thing as u have told but still its showing the blank page as before i have changed the ini file as it is discussed in the installation manual , but nothing is happening

i dont know where im mistakened

If you are not seeing any error messages then it means that you have not configured PHP properly. Are you a newbie by any chance?

Have you looked in the error logs?

Unless you can supply me with an error message I cannot possibly solve your problem.

Do you have a debugger so that you can step through the code?

one thing which i wanna tell you that , on my machine ,there is vertrigo server installed along with wordpress either it is the issue?

actually im doubted about that please guide me , becoz this is very important to install the radicore on my machine plzzzzzzzz..

I know nothing of the vertrigo server, so I don't know if it's causing an error or not.

Have you checked with phpinfo() that your include_path is pointing to the correct radicore/includes directory?

If you have turned on error reporting correctly then you should see an error message and not a blank page. Unless you can provide me with an error message I cannot help you. You only other option would be to install a debugger and step through the code to see where it is failing.
