(1) The action buttons are set at the start of each page controller, so if you unset any in your `_cm_initialise()` method they will only be unset when that method is called, which is only the first time that the script is run - so on all subsequent iterations the buttons will not be unset. The best way is to use the `_cm_changeConfig()` method instead as this is called on every iteration.

(2) Use the `_cm_changeConfig()` method.
