Subject: Re: Return from help screens
Posted by AJM on Wed, 13 May 2009 17:11:39 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

If the value for session_id points to an entry in the php_session table then that should populate the $_SESSION array with all the values from the previous script, so there should be no reason why the script gets kicked out to the logon screen.

What happens after the call to session_start() at line 609? oes it populate the $_SESSION array with data as expected?

What condition causes the redirect to the logon screen?