That's very peculiar as the $_SESSION['pages'] array shows only 2 entries:
- /menu/logon.php
- /menu/menu.php

So where's the application script that you were running when you pressed the HELP hyperlink?

The $_SESSION['page_stack'] array also looks empty when it shouldn't be.

Something is happening to the contents of $_SESSION when you press the HELP hyperlink as it appears to be clearing out the values for the script which you were running, so when it returns it cannot find its values. I cannot reproduce this problem at all at my end, so you will have to step through line by line with your debugger to see exactly where $_SESSION['pages'][<script_id>] and $_SESSION['page_stack'][<task_id>] are being cleared.
