To have a field displayed in a particular zone on the screen you must have the following:
(a) The field must be in the $fieldarray array.
(b) The field must be in the screen structure file for that zone.
(c) If you want the field displayed with a particular HTML control then it must have the relevant details in the $fieldspec array.

Item (1) is important because in a MULTI5 pattern there is no automatic getData() on the database for the top zone, so you have to supply values manually.
