I changed my database schema by inserting a column with type boolean where you can decide if the field will be calculated or not.

You said that nothing is sent until the submit button is pressed. That's ok for me because I now want to calculate the values after having pressed the submit button.

I tried to put my code for changing the values in $fieldarray in the custom method _cm_preInsertorUpdate($rows) in the class file. I tried to change the values of $rows with $rows['column_name'] = 'foobar'. But I didn't succeed. Is this a possible way or not?

Or do I have to use another custom method?
