If you look very carelfully at the getValRep() and _cm_getValRep() methods inside std.table.class.inc you will see that they both have optional arguments for $where and $orderby. Inside the _cm_getValRep() method you will see the following line of code:

$data = $this->getData($where);

This means that all you have to do is supply a value for $where when you call the getValRep() method.
