I'm glad that you have discovered the benefits of a debugger.

I started off by using a free IDE which came with a debugger, but then I switched to a commercial IDE (Zend Sudio) as it had better support. Then Zend Studio got bloated and slow, so I decided to switch to PhpED from http://www.nusphere.com. I could not imagine trying to do development without a debugger any more as it shows up any problems immediately without you having to guess where they are.
