If you look at the `formatData()` method inside `std.table.class.inc` you will see that it can only format date fields if those fields have entries in the `$fieldspec` array which identifies them as having a type of 'date' or 'datetime'. If your output contains a field which does not have an entry in the `$fieldspec` array then it cannot be formatted and will be output as-is. You can fix this by manually updating the `$fieldspec` array in the `_cm_changeConfig()` method.
