Yep, I did that.

// get all children of this node
$this->sql_select = 'role_id';
$this->sql_from = 'mnu_role';
$where = "role_id_snr='".$role_id."'";
$children_rowdata = $this->_dml_getData($where);

Assuming if two rows were returned.
"TESTING"
"TESTING2"

I refer to array returned explicitly
$children_rowdata[0]['role_id'] //value is "TESTING"

$children_rowdata[1]['role_id'] //value is "" should be "TESTING2" correct?
Im new to php, is this the correct way to refer to a 2nd row?
