I use Times for the column headings.

Here is the pdf.styles.inc entry:

$style['hdg_anwesenheit']['font'] = array('family' => 'Times',      // Courier, Helvetica, Times
                                         'style' => "",        // blank=Regular, B=Bold, I=Italic, U=Underline
                                         'size' => 9,          // size in points
                                         'height' => 3.9,       // line height in units
                                         'draw' => .3,         // width of drawn lines
                                         'overflow' => y,       // overflow
                                         'border' => '1',       // position of border lines
