I cannot reproduce this problem in my test environment, so it is impossible for me to come up with a solution. Can you please send me a test set so that I can see what is happening for myself.

What I need is as follows:

- an sql script to create the database and load test data
 - a copy of your PHP scripts
 - a copy of your <subsystem>.menu_export.sql file so that I can have your subsystem appear in my menus.
