in logon.php
line 18 require 'include.general.inc';
produces error:
Warning: require(include.general.inc) [function.require]: failed to open stream: No such file or directory in etc...etc

I see this line appears in many other files.

All the 'include' files are in a separate directory called INCLUDES which can only be accessed if it is specified in the 'include_path' directive, as specified in step 3 of the installation instructions at http://www.radicore.org/installation.php

If you have installed the framework on a shared host it would be best to put the INCLUDES directory outside the web root so that its contents cannot be accessed through the browser.

Thank you, though I expect you would prefer to write 'RTF'

Don't you mean 'RTFM'?
