In the following entry:

117. Can I change the style of individual entries in a radio group?

There is CSS code that references 'div' tags but radicore renders them in 'class' tags so the instructions don't work. The css should be updated from:

div.green { background: green;
  color: white;
  font-weight: bold;
}
```

To:

```
.green { background: green;
  color: white;
  font-weight: bold;
}
```

Cheers,

I don't know which css file you are looking at, but the one included in the Radicore download which demonstrates the colouring of radio group items is in 'radicore/menu/style_custom.css', and this already specifies '.green' and not 'div.green'.

Hi Tony,

I was looking at the HTML FAQ page on www.radicore.org in the Documents section. I did not check any code that was in the files.

My mistake. I thought it was a bug in my code. I shall correct the FAQ shortly.
